Bringing Government to the People

MADISON– Today, State Senator Tom Tiffany (R-Hazelhurst) and Representatives Mary Felzkowski (R-Irma) and Jeff Mursau (R-Crivitz) announced efforts to bring state agency secretaries to northern Wisconsin over the next few months. They released the following statement:

“It is important for the people of Wisconsin to have open communication with their state government. They want to know that their concerns are being heard and local issues are taken seriously. It is often forgotten just how far away Madison is for many of our constituents. That is why we are bringing the leaders of their state government to them.

“The Department of Transportation secretary, Dave Ross, will be joining us in Crivitz and Merrill on April 30th for listening sessions. We are also planning on bringing north the secretaries from the Department of Natural Resources, the Department of Tourism, and the Department of Veterans Affairs. More information will be provided at a later date.”

Listening Sessions with Department of Transportation secretary, Dave Ross, will take place on April 30th at the times and locations listed below.
